Secretary of the Treasury Scott Bessent to Address the Reagan National Economic Forum

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The Ronald Reagan Presidential Foundation and Institute today announced that Secretary of the Treasury Scott Bessent will participate in the Reagan National Economic Forum (RNEF) on May 28–29, 2026, at the Ronald Reagan Presidential Library in Simi Valley, California. The theme of RNEF 2026 is “Building the American Future: Growth, Innovation, and Opportunity at 250.”

Secretary Bessent will participate in a fireside chat during the Forum, joining senior policymakers, business leaders, and economic thinkers to discuss the most pressing economic issues facing the United States.

RNEF brings together senior policymakers, C-suite executives, innovators, and thought leaders from across the United States. Its mission is to advance economic, fiscal, and monetary policies that will sustain and strengthen American opportunity, innovation, and prosperity in the context of fierce global competition, threats to America’s national security, and significant domestic challenges and opportunities.

“Secretary Bessent brings deep experience in global financial markets and economic policy at a pivotal moment for the U.S. economy,” said Roger Zakheim, Washington Director of the Ronald Reagan Presidential Foundation and Institute. “We are honored to welcome him to RNEF and look forward to his perspective on shaping America’s economic future.”

“President Reagan believed in the tremendous power of free enterprise, sound economic policy, and American innovation,” said David Trulio, President and Chief Executive Officer of the Ronald Reagan Presidential Foundation and Institute. “RNEF draws on that vision as we address the most significant economic issues facing the country today. We are honored to host Secretary Bessent as he helps drive the national conversation on the U.S. economy.”
