Reagan Library to Host “Princess Diana: Love Life Legacy — A Life of Giving” Exhibition Featuring Hundreds of Original Artifacts

Diana’s “Travolta” dress to be exclusively displayed along with her “Final Goodbye” dress, revealed publicly for the first time

SIMI VALLEY, CA — The Ronald Reagan Presidential Foundation and Institute (RRPFI) will debut “Princess Diana: Love Life Legacy — A Life of Giving,” marking the exhibition's first stop anywhere in the world. Opening on November 7, 2026, this remarkable exhibition showcases more than 700 original artifacts spanning every chapter of Diana’s extraordinary life. From internationally recognized fashions and handwritten letters to childhood treasures, jewelry, historic documents, and personal possessions, these remarkable objects tell the story of Diana as a daughter, sister, wife, mother, humanitarian, and global icon.

Displayed together for the very first time, this landmark exhibition also unveils previously unknown artifacts and items that highlight the special transatlantic friendship between the Reagans and the United Kingdom, unique to the Reagan Library. This exhibition offers visitors an unprecedented opportunity to experience her life, legacy, and enduring impact.

Items on display include:

- Diana’s iconic “Travolta” dress, on loan from Historic Royal Palaces;
- The invitation to the historic 1985 White House State Dinner;
- Diana’s famous “Black Sheep” sweater;
- The “Caring” dress worn while visiting hospitalized children;
- Jacques Azagury’s “Final Goodbye” Dress, the last gown Princess Diana tried on before her death, revealed publicly for the first time;
- The official program from Charles and Diana’s royal wedding;
- Princess Diana’s wedding slippers;
- Princess Diana’s iconic Lady Dior handbags, shoes, hats, and designer accessories;
- Jewelry from childhood keepsakes to iconic royal pieces;
- Handwritten letters, historic documents, and personal possessions.

Exclusive to this stop on the tour, the Reagan Library adds to the international collection by pairing Princess Diana’s artifacts with items from President and Mrs. Reagan’s archival collection. This one-of-a-kind pairing tells the story of the Princess of Wales and the enduring transatlantic bond between the U.S. and the U.K. It brings together iconic dresses and personal treasures from Princess Diana and Nancy Reagan, highlighting how each used their global platform to champion humanitarian work, shape fashion history, inspire millions, and leave a lasting influence on modern culture.

“This exhibition offers an intimate look at one of the most memorable chapters in modern diplomatic history,” said Melissa Giller, Chief Marketing and Cultural Programming Officer of the RRPFI. “The Reagan Foundation is honored to be the first location to host the exhibit, showcasing the deep bond between Princess Diana and the Reagans, as well as the timeless influence that Princess Diana shared with the world.”

The “Princess Diana: Love Life Legacy — A Life of Giving” exhibition, running through May 31, 2027, was developed and produced by Exhibits Development Group in collaboration with The Princess & The Platypus Foundation from the collection of The Princess Diana Museum.
